

2 Hanoi Envoys Discuss Airmen

Tokyo (UPI)—North Vietnamese ambassadors in two communist capitals called news conferences Tuesday and discussed the fate of U.S. fliers captured in North Vietnam.

They were variously reported as having said the airmen would definitely be tried as war criminals and merely that Hanoi had the right to try them.

But all reports agreed that the ambassadors to Peking and Prague said the fliers were "war criminals" rather than "prisoners of war" and therefore were not covered by the Geneva convention prohibiting war prisoner trials.

No Evidence

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said the United States had no evidence, "direct or indirect," that Hanoi had decided to try captured American airmen as war criminals, beyond threats voiced over a period of days.

U.S. government monitors had picked up no broadcasts which would shed light on just what the North Vietnamese ambassadors to Red China and Czechoslovakia were telling newsmen would be done. They could do nothing to clarify conflicts between some reports that quoted the North Vietnamese envoy in Peking as saying the airmen "would" be tried and others which declared only that they "could."

Most Washington officials watching the situation closely appeared to believe that it made little difference exactly what North Vietnamese ambassadors in various capitals were saying. The attitude in Washington was that any firm decision to try the airmen would come from Hanoi itself.

Pending any word from

Hanoi, the United States obviously was assuming no decision had been taken and was hoping that North Vietnam would heed the many warnings it has received that any action against the airmen would have serious consequences.

'Could' Or 'Will'?

The Japanese Kyodo news agency reported that North Vietnamese Ambassador Tran Do Binh said in Peking that the captured airmen were war criminals who "could be tried in accordance with Vietnamese law."

(In Paris, the French radio said the Peking correspondent of the French news agency Agence France Presse had reported the North Vietnamese ambassador said Hanoi "will try" the pilots as war criminals. The French report was not borne out by the Japanese news agency.)

(The official Czech news agency reported from Prague that the North Vietnamese ambassador to Czechoslovakia, Phan Van Su, the captured fliers will stand trial as criminals.)

Unmentioned

A New China News Agency dispatch, monitored in Tokyo and London, made no reference to the American prisoners.

Meantime, however, North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh cabled the veteran U.S. Socialist leader Norman Thomas: "No doubt you know that the policy of the government of the Democratic Republic of Viet Nam with regard to the enemies captured in war is a humanitarian policy."

Thomas had appealed to Hanoi not to try the pilots as war criminals. The remainder of the president's brief reply merely thanked Thomas for the message and wished him good health.

Regulars Hunted After Wave Attack

Saigon (AP)—Thousands of U.S. Marines hunted near the 17th Parallel Tuesday for North Vietnamese regulars who finally broke off a costly human-wave attack Monday after inflicting heavy casualties on two Marine platoons—90 men outnumbered about 10 to 1.

Contact in and around the jungled Song Ngan Valley dwindled to light and sporadic exchanges in the wake of a battle that an American officer estimated left a Red regiment of 1,000 troops with 500 dead or wounded.

The rest—survivors of Marine fire and the hammering of supporting warplanes and artillery—may have split into small groups.

MIG Gets U.S. Plane

The air war stayed in high gear. The U.S. command said three U.S. planes were shot down over North Viet Nam during raids on oil depots near Hanoi. One of the planes was lost in aerial combat with a MIG while the others were downed by anti-aircraft fire.

North Viet Nam's official news agency claimed 10 U.S. planes were shot down over North Viet Nam Tuesday and that some American pilots were captured.

The U.S. command listed the three pilots of the downed planes as missing.

Battalion vs. Regiment

Primary antagonists in the battle in the north were a U.S. Marine battalion, holding ground about 2,000 yards south of the demilitarized border zone, and a regiment of North Vietnamese regulars, believed to be part of a 10,000-man Red division.

"They came in waves," said Maj. Clark G. Henry, 40, of Novato, Calif. "There were thousands of them, and that's speaking conservatively. We didn't have over 300 Marines."

Red commanders maneuvered their men with bugle calls and whistles. Under heavy pressure, the bulk of the Marine battalion pulled out. The two platoons were assigned to fight a rear guard action.

Hit with mortar and small arms, the platoons held out for four hours until air and artillery strikes drove off the massive enemy force. Some of the Marines were injured as Marine fighter-bombers dropped napalm as close as 50 feet from their position to prevent them from being overrun.

The demilitarized zone is a six-mile-wide strip blanketing the border between North and South Viet Nam. Under the Geneva agreement of 1954 the zone is supposed to be free of armed activity. Intelligence officers believe the communist division infiltrated directly across that zone instead of taking the roundabout and bomb-pitted Ho Chi Minh Trail through neighboring Laos.

The International Control Commission, a watchdog agency made up of India, Canada and Poland, instructed a field team to report on the situation.

Marines mopping up after the fierce battle counted 138 North Vietnamese dead from the single action. The U.S. command said the Marines have killed 331 communists since the border fighting started last Friday.

'Light' Casualties

Though the rear guard platoons were hit hard, overall casualties of the Marines were officially called light.

The terrain is rough and tricky.

"You could hide a whole regiment in some of those areas and you would not know it unless you stumbled on them," a Marine officer said.

This was the third special election on this same issue.

Air-Dropped Bomb First For France

Papeete, Tahiti (AP)—France dropped its first atomic bomb from a plane just after dawn Tuesday over Atoll Mururoa in French Polynesia.

The blast, second in the current French program of atmospheric nuclear testing in the South Pacific, brought an immediate protest from Japan. The Japanese called the tests "a serious threat to all peace-loving nations of the world" and urged France to call off any further blasts.

Long-Term Aid Rejected By Senate

Washington (AP)—The Senate rejected 48 to 35 Tuesday a move to give the administration's proposal for long-term foreign aid authorization a two-year trial, as the House has voted.

The Senate vote upheld its Foreign Relations Committee's refusal to authorize the economic aid for more than the traditional one year. President Johnson has sought a five-year authorization to make long-range planning easier.

Meanwhile, Republicans posed more trouble for the administration's blueprint for the aid, agreeing generally at a party meeting to back a $250 million cut in the $3.4 billion total authorization.

Although GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said there was nothing binding in the party discussions, he indicated to a news conference he believes most Republicans will go along.

Air Strike Talks Critical As Vote May Decide Issue

Washington (AP)—Airline strike talks turned critical Tuesday. The machinists union said it would put management's latest offer up to a vote of 35,000 strikers if there is no contract agreement by Wednesday.

"The next 25 hours are critical to these negotiations," said Asst. Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds. He urged both sides to try for a settlement before the union's deadline of 5 p.m. Wednesday.

A vote among the strikers on the five major airlines shut down by the walkout would take from three to five days. The strike is now in its 12th day.

Dodd's Ghostwriter Klein Praises Self

Washington (AP)—Public relations man Julius Klein described himself Tuesday as a ghostwriter for Sen. Thomas J. Dodd—and acknowledged that much of what he wrote praised his own performance as an agent for West German clients.

But the stocky, mannequin-faced man from Chicago told Senate ethics investigators that Dodd did not salvage any of his business—business he said was in peril because of a Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearing on his operations.

While Klein was testifying, Dodd was presiding over a hearing of the Senate juvenile delinquency subcommittee.

Benjamin R. Fern, counsel to the Senate Committee on Standards and Conduct, said he did not see how Klein could deny putting pressure on Dodd for business help.

Calls, Cables

Before Dodd went to Germany, more than two years ago, Klein sent him 20 letters and cables, briefing papers on German figures and backed them up with telephone calls, Fern said.

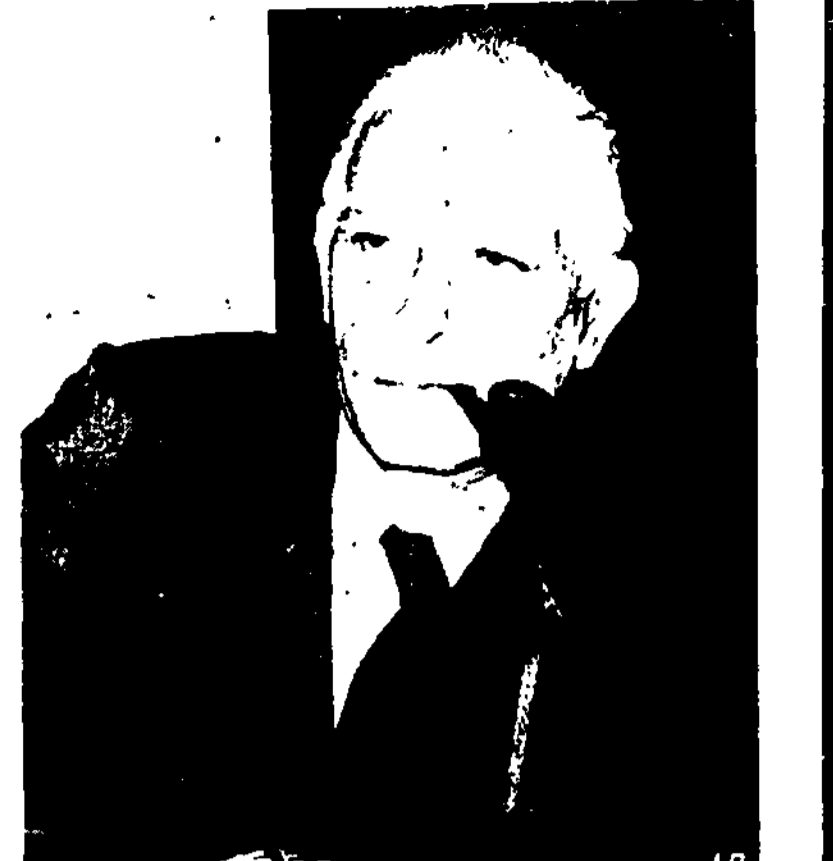

Klein said he wanted Dodd to talk with German officials and counter what he said was an impression there that he had been censured—even indicted—in the Foreign Relations Committee inquiry on foreign lobbyists.

"It surely didn't do me any harm," Klein said of Dodd's six-day trip to Germany. The senator insisted he went there on official business, to look into Soviet terrorism for a Senate subcommittee.

Javits Knew More

In a swirl of sometimes contradictory testimony, Klein said Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., knew more about the troubles that stemmed from the foreign relations inquiry than Dodd did. And he said Javits helped him.

But Klein also testified he was—by coincidence—in Dodd's office when the Connecticut Democrat received a letter from Ludger Westrick, DODD . . . chairs delinquency hearing.

undersecretary of commerce in West Germany.

Klein said he translated the letter for Dodd.

"I said, Tom, this gives a splendid opportunity to explain the difference between a Senate investigation and a court trial," Klein testified, "a great opportunity to clear up this matter."

Klein said he asked Dodd to let him have the letter, and drafted a reply—which he said, explained distortions of the Foreign Relations Committee inquiry.

Distortions

Fern said the letter didn't say much about distortions. "Does the letter deal almost entirely with Julius Klein?"

Klein: The bottom of the letter deals almost entirely with me.

Fern: Would you say it's written in a praiseworthy manner?

Klein: Yes sir, and I'm glad it does.

Fern: It's your own words.

Klein: It isn't the first time a letter has been written for a public official.

Signed By Dodd

Two letters, signed by Dodd but written by Klein, went to the German official, the publicist testified.

"I never got copies of his correspondence," Klein said. "Somebody else got copies of his correspondence, not I."

Three Dodd aides took the correspondence from the senator's files, turned it over to columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson, and produced the published accounts of Klein-Dodd dealings which led to the inquiry.

Klein said he wrote speeches for Dodd, too, but added the senator did not deliver any of them, although he may have used some of the material.

He denied asking Dodd to introduce any legislation—then said he urged the senator to propose a resolution on German reunification.

Out of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearings came legislation tightening the laws that

Cheyenne's Big Wheat Harvest Almost History

Sidney (U)—In about two more days Cheyenne County's 1966 harvest will be history. For the entire southern Nebraska Panhandle area this year's winter wheat crop has been the best in two decades. The average yield for Cheyenne County is around 35 bushels to the acre. In Deuel County it will be higher—about 40 bushels to the acre.

With the exception of grain brought in during the past few days, the test weights have been exceptional, most of them 61-65 pounds. Some bleaching resulted from recent rains and the weights dropped accordingly.

Good Prices
Prices paid at elevators remain high, for the simple reason that not too much of this tremendous crop is going on the market. Over the weekend one elevator quoted a price of $1.70 a bushel. Monday most of them were at $1.66 to $1.68.

Along the Union Pacific boxcars have been no problem.

Elevators in the northern and southern part of the country have been experiencing some difficulty shipping out wheat but none that can't be surmounted.

Chappel—Jim Ledbetter, manager at the Farmer's Elevator, said the harvest in that area is pretty well wound up. They have taken in 1,200,000 bushels at the elevator and have loaded out 60 boxcars.

Computer Splits New York Couple In Voting District

New York (U)—The board of elections has drawn a line right through the bedroom occupied by Benjamin and Lillian Ziesk in Far Rockaway. "Blame it on the computer," says a Jamaica elections official.

The line runs right between the Ziesk's twin beds. The board assigned Ziesk to vote in the 41st Election District and his wife to the 51st Election District.

Ziesk said his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Milton J. Schuster, who occupy the first floor of the two-family house, vote in the 51st District.

"The situation will be corrected before the general election in November," said the elections official.

Summary of Conditions
A slow-moving Pacific cold front should pass to the north of the Nebraska area during Tuesday night, making room for a second Pacific cold front to move southward into the Nebraska area from the north.

The system will have little effect on the Nebraska region, affecting only the far western edge of the state. Locally, skies should be clear with warmer temperatures.

Extended Forecast

Nebraska: Temperatures during the five-day period, Wednesday through Sunday, will average 3 to 16 degrees above normal in the north and 10 to 15 degrees above normal in the south. Premeditated Murder Count Faces Patient

Des Moines (U)—A man who has been a patient in various government mental hospitals for 31 years was charged Tuesday with the premeditated murder of a fellow patient at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Knoxville.

Albert J. Fauth, 61, was committed by U.S. District Judge William C. Hanson to the federal medical center at Springfield, Mo.

The court said it would require frequent reports on Fauth's condition from the medical center, and that it will depend on the reports whether Fauth later will face trial on the murder charge.

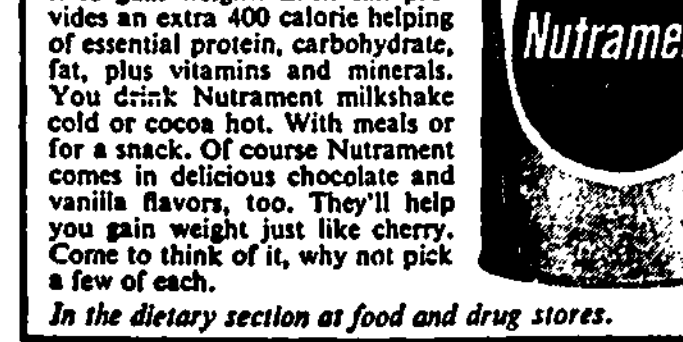

Fauth, patient since 1935 in several institutions, is accused of strangling Maurice Joice, 46, Omaha, Neb., with a pajama top in a ward of the Knoxville hospital early Sunday.

Near North Side Plans Developing

Omaha (U)—United Community Services leaders said Tuesday their Operation Summer time is developing into a long-range program to improve job opportunities and recreational opportunities on the Near North Side.

Executive Director Joseph Klug and Associate Director Stanley Levin pointed out that this program started before the disturbances of the July 4 weekend under a $35,000 budget and an effort is being made to attract "big money" to improve and expand the services.

They listed these developments: —Negotiations are under way to use the Elk's Hall for dances for youths 18 and over each evening except Monday and Wednesday.

—Plans are progressing to show full-length movies and hold swimming parties on evenings when dances are not held at the 18-and-over site of the former Blackburn's Center which the city is operating.

—Basketball clinics under the direction of professional basketball star Bob Boozer are being held each evening except Thursday at Near North Side YMCA and an outdoor league will follow with games probably at the Epilepsy Boys Club, Kountze Park and St. Benedict's School when courts are completed.

—A teen-age lounge for youths under 18 opened Monday at the 28th Ave. YMCA.

—A center to help youths obtain information on everything from personal problems to joining the military service opened Monday at North Christ Child Center.

—A "Hire-Out Service" to find spot jobs such as baby-sitting and housecleaning is operating at the Near North YMCA.

Recreational Suggestions Are Offered

Omaha (U)—Mayor A. V. Sorensen's recreation study committee, formed after the recent riot in Omaha, heard residents of the area outline recreational suggestions at the first of three hearings.

Residents of the area emphasized a request that schools be opened in the summer and after hours during the school year to provide recreation areas for young children and teenagers.

They also asked that the eastern part of Adams Park be developed, adding a swimming pool, tennis court and playgrounds.

Other suggestions were to: —Expand the city-operated teenage recreation center at the former Blackburn's Center, making similar programs accessible to youngsters south of Lake Street.

—Reopen recreation rooms in the Logan-Fontenelle, Hilltop and Pleasant View housing projects.

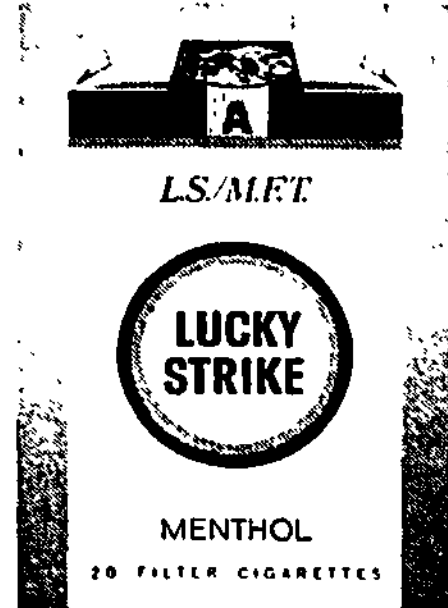

—Increase the number of visits by city-operated "playmobiles."

—Acquire and develop more single lot sized playgrounds.

A Snow Job?

By PAUL A. MCKALIP

(Note: Twice within the past few days, The Star has printed columns by Marquis Childs regarding a proposal to build dams on the Colorado River, a proposal bitterly opposed by conservationists and others. Today's editorial was written by Paul A. McKalip, editor of the Tucson Daily Citizen, who offered the reprint for publication with this comment: "The following . . . is being sent in the best of spirit insofar as our good friends on the Rockford newspapers—and any others of similar viewpoint—are concerned. The Colorado River Development Project, of which our vital Central Arizona Project is a major part, is a proposal now before Congress and the nation. Widespread editorial comment is natural and appropriate. We in Arizona have no quarrel with those who oppose this massive proposal; but we do hope that our editorial may correct any misinformation which may come to editors' desks. Such misinformation does no service either to legitimate objective discussion or to . . . editorial consideration and conclusions.")

An editorial published in the Rockford (Ill.) Morning Star urges Congress to reject the proposed Colorado River Development Project because its passage "would ruin the Grand Canyon, one of the nation's most scenic natural spectacles."

The Rockford Star's editorial is typical of much comment being spread around the country, comment unsupported by facts but just as damaging to the vital water project as if the objections were valid. The Star makes the unqualified assertion that the dams proposed as part of the project "would flood the entire length of the canyon and back flood waters 13 miles into the Grand Canyon National Park." That's only the beginning. The editorial questions the motives of those, including Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall, who back the project; charges that dammed-up water of the Central Arizona Project would "fill the Grand Canyon;" adds that the Grand Canyon "should be preserved and not inundated;" and concludes that the proposal is plain "asinine."

In all charity, we have to conclude that the editorial was written without benefit of research. It might even have been written from the snowfall of propaganda being circulated by the Sierra Club, a vociferous group of self-styled conservationists.

Research would have disclosed these underlying and unassailable facts:

The Grand Canyon will NOT be ruined. The Grand Canyon will NOT be filled with water. The Grand Canyon will NOT be inundated. The "entire length" of Grand Canyon Park will NOT be flooded.

The Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, after investigating the Lower Colorado Basin portion of the proposal, reported on August 6, 1964:

"Over 96 percent of the land area in the park will remain in its natural condition . . . in the committee's view, it does NO violence to the 'wilderness concept' which this committee vigorously espouses, to permit this unique opportunity to the public at large to glimpse at first hand the matchless splendor of this most magnificent of America's scenic treasures."

This was not a conclusion reached by groups or persons who might have vested interests or motives of gain. This was a report of a Senate committee where opposition would be expected to develop if it were warranted—a committee which "vigorously espouses" the wilderness concept.

The Colorado River Development Project is not new. Both the possibilities and the consequences of this project were explored thoroughly in 1919 when legislation established Grand Canyon National Park.

In 1933 the director of the National Park Service reconfirmed the findings of 1919 in a letter to the commissioner of reclamation when he wrote that the Bridge Canyon Project (now Hualapai Dam), perhaps the most controversial of the many phases of the overall project, "is in no way affected by the Grand Canyon National Monument proclamation."

The Rockford Star's editorial and other similar editorials critical of the vital project are unfortunate.

They come at a time when hearings on the project are about to start in the House Interior Committee. Here is the true picture of what the Colorado River Development Project will do. It will create a dam, Hualapai (Bridge Canyon), 80 miles west of and downstream from the Grand Canyon. Behind this dam will form a lake 13 miles long, not long enough to reach the national park. It will create a dam, Marble Canyon Dam, entirely outside of and upstream from Grand Canyon Park. Between these two dams will be 92 miles of Grand Canyon National Park and the scenic splendors within this span will in no way be affected. Access roads leading to the dams and the waters of the dam-created lakes will open to millions of Americans a new part of their heritage of natural beauty.

This is the truth of the Colorado River Development Project. The truth hopefully will stand up in the coming months where it is needed most—in the Congress of the United States.

Decisions For Action

The Lincoln Action Program this week put the seal of approval on five areas of the federal poverty program.

It okayed proposals for legal services, day care, Project Head Start and extended vocational education. Perhaps most important of all the board voted to continue itself.

Certainly without a continuing board Lincoln could not participate in the poverty program. The function of the board is to coordinate and approve all activities. It is a requirement before federal funds are available.

The approvals actually amounted to a total request for $275,576 in federal funds. Incidentally, if all is approved an additional dollar requirement of $44,938 must be provided locally. The federal requests add up as follows: administrative requirement $64,406, Project Head Start $17,122, extended education $8,250, and legal aid $24,798.

No fixed sum was requested for day care although such a program was approved.

If federal grants are made available the federal funds will begin flowing in by September.

It was a fairly modest meeting but its actual significance lies in the fact that it made the decisions which are required to inaugurate the activities and Lincoln is now a step nearer to a coordinated active program. In short the ship has been launched.

Iowa Medical Action

The Des Moines Register says that the Iowa Medical Political Action Committee is soliciting funds from physicians to be used in an attempt to defeat six Democratic congressmen who voted for Medicare.

There have been numerous instances in recent years where medical funds have been aimed at the defeat of lawmakers. There is nothing wrong in this while an issue is pending. It is somewhat different after the fact as an action in revenge. The public health bill which provides aid for the elderly in instances of sickness has been passed and is in operation. Little can be gained now by firing arrows at those who voted for it. Their defeat would not write the law off the books. Moreover defeating someone is a negative action. It gives no guarantee that a successor will tear down what has been done. Many Republican congressmen also voted for Medicare.

There are some facts that are being ignored in this public action. One is that Medicare is highly satisfactory to the majority of Americans. There is a real and pressing need for it. It will go on. In our type of society it is difficult to buck what the majority wishes.

Moreover, the congressmen involved in this action will soon be forgotten whether they survive or are defeated but the action will remain attached to the medical profession for ever so long. And it tends to depreciate the long held public view that physicians are above such things. Whether it is true or not the American concept of the medical profession does not square with such political actions in revenge. This makes the whole thing seem unwise.

We Called It Dog Days

This is the time of year we used to call dog days. The sun is so hot in the daytime it could bore a hole in you. And before air conditioning, the nights would be hot, too. It was the time, long ago, when the young fry could beat the rap by sleeping out of doors.

It was the time for cold slices of watermelon and home made ice cream. And a great time for jumping aboard the old ice wagon and picking out a sliver of ice.

Well, the ice wagon is no more. And ice cream is made in factories. But the long, hot dry days are still with us. We presume so are the locusts who used to make the neighborhood resound with their afternoon buzzing. Or maybe it is all still here, but we are growing too old to notice.

But dog days. We used to think that it was a name conjured by children and passed among them—something that marked the slow time of summer heat midway during school vacation. The time for lying on one's back in the shade of a tree and looking up at the puffy small clouds in the sky. The time when the clocks still worked, but had little meaning, and when the stars of evening seemed much closer than usual.

Well, the years taught us differently. It was not children but the Romans who came up with what we call dog days. Hesiod the poet described them. He wrote, "When Sirius parches head and knees, and the body is dried up by reason of the heat, then sit in the shade and drink."

The Romans calculated dog days from the fact that it was the period when the star Sirius rose and set at approximately the same time as did our sun. That did it, they said.

Now we have a different reason. We say the jet stream causes it, eight miles up in the sky. Currently it is stagnating way up in Canada somewhere.

Calls Klein An Unique Operator

WASHINGTON—Of the many lobbyists we have known in Washington, Maj. Gen. Julius Klein of the Illinois National Guard, retired, is one of the most unique. His uniqueness lies in the fact that he has such close relations with Sen. Tom Dodd, D-Conn., the West Germans, and did have them for a time with other senators, despite his well known activities on various fronts.

His relations with the Germans can be explained by the fact that they were anxious to live down their anti-Jewish stigma of the war, and Klein was a Jew who appeared to have powerful friends in powerful places.

But Klein's relations with Tom Dodd, a prosecutor, a former U.S. attorney, a keen investigator, supposedly a router-out of evil, the main-spring of the Internal Security Committee, are hard indeed to understand. Dodd was not a champion of the Jewish minority, in fact once incurred Jewish resentment by inserting the spurious Protocols of the Wise Men of Zion in the Congressional Record on the strange excuse that he was exposing anti-Semitism.

Nevertheless, Dodd enjoyed an intimate relationship with Klein. Meanwhile, many other senators had got wise to him, and frowned on his activities. So did the members of his own profession.

For instance, Klein is one of the few members of the Public Relations Society of America who have been officially censured. On Sept. 23, 1963, Ward B. Stevenson, then president of the Society, sent out a notice "to all members" stating that "in accordance with the by-laws, I have been instructed by the board of directors of the Public Relations Society of America, Inc., to give you notice of a resolution of censure adopted by the board at its meeting on Sept. 20, 1963. The resolution, which was adopted by the affirmative vote of two thirds of the entire board of directors, follows:

"Resolved, that Julius Klein, a member of the Public Relations Society of America, Inc., be and hereby is censured for his violation of paragraphs 1 and 13 of the Society's Code of Professional Standards for the Practice of Public Relations."

This occurred just six months before Sen. Dodd went to Germany on behalf of Klein.

The Jewish War Veterans' national executive committee on April 30, 1966, officially went on record as refusing Klein its support.

The mimeographed summary of the JVV meeting states "Item 7—Gen. Julius Klein ruled off agenda by chairman. Klein sought the floor on a plea of personal privilege to attempt to get resolution of support in the Dodd case. He was ruled off the agenda and denied the right of support."

Douglas, Percy In Close Race

WASHINGTON—Sen. Paul Douglas, 74, from the start of his re-election campaign against Charles H. Percy, 46, a Republican whiz kid from industry, has been trying to close the age gap with a show of vigor.

Percy, who did a minutet on the issues when he ran a losing race for governor two years ago, has been trying to close the ideological gap with a firmer and more moderate position on domestic affairs, notably the race question.

The outcome of this Illinois contest will really make a difference. Douglas, an economics professor, is the liberal sage of his party who sits near the head of the table on the Finance, Banking and Currency and Joint Economic Committees. Percy offers the young, clean-cut style which is in short supply within a party desperate for new presidential possibilities.

Public opinion indexes pronounce that the race is close. So is any reckoning of the assets and liabilities possessed by the candidates.

Democrats are united behind Douglas and are giving him far more adequate financing than he enjoyed in past years. He exacted a promise of this before he agreed to run again. Percy, with more money to spend for invaluable TV time which requires advance contracts, has less factional trouble to contend with than in the Goldwater year of the locusts but has some problems with leaders who don't like people wanting to start at the top.

So far the campaign is polite, and even the Viet Nam issue is muted. Douglas says he supports the President. Percy is critical but takes no harsh positions. Douglas forbids his people to say an unkind word about Percy or explain his contradictions. Percy is almost deferential to the senator, an attitude some Douglas admirers grumble is designed only to stress the age issue.

But Douglas, who has lived his liberal convictions to a rare degree, is also a realist trained in Chicago ward politics where he began as an alderman. He knew even before Virginia turned out two elder statesmen that age might make a difference in the TV era and that voters still ask: "What have you done for me lately?"

His pace-setting activities included recently 11 perspiring days south of Springfield with eight to 10 meetings daily. It was friendly territory, but objective observers say he handled it in his old beguiling style.

The Chicago race riots raised the specter of a white backlash, but the city has lived with the issue of its Negro ghetto for a long time. Percy, a suburbanite, now advocates the modified version of open housing, though Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen of Illinois does not. Douglas sticks to his old home in an integrated South Side neighborhood and helps push it along.

Big War Draws Nearer

WASHINGTON—The terrifying logic of an escalating war holds the capitals of both East and West in an unrelenting grip. However much Washington, Moscow, London, Hanoi, New Delhi may want to check the spiral, there is a sense of helplessness as each new move produces a counterthrust.

No one here believes that the last has been heard from Hanoi on the American prisoners-of-war issue. The guessing is that they will be put to work in supply depots and factories in the Hanoi-Haiphong area under attack by American bombers. That violates the Geneva convention on the treatment of prisoners one stage beyond parading captured Americans through the streets of the North Vietnamese capital.

The 18 senators who signed a "plea for sanity" on the prisoner issue faced up to the violent reaction that trial and execution of these men would bring in this country. In one degree or another they have all been critics of American Viet Nam policy, with senators Wayne Morse and Ernest Gruening outright in their denunciation of every phase of the war. Yet the 18, all Democrats, agreed in appealing to North Viet Nam not to try the prisoners on this warning:

"The struggle in Viet Nam now approaches a peril point of no return. Violence begets more violence; the fever of reprisal rises, feeding upon itself; reason is in danger of falling prisoner to blind passion. Then the war becomes a raging inferno, burning away the last barriers of restraint."

Those close to President Johnson represent him as deeply concerned with the way relations with the Soviet Union are deteriorating. He knows that his predecessor, John F. Kennedy, made an important advance toward a kind of coexistence in which each side would compete in the sphere of peace.

Here, too, the logic of a spreading war appearing beyond any control is at work. Thus far the President has resisted the military—and political—demand to mine or bomb the harbor of Haiphong. His foreign policy advisers say this would result in the sinking of Soviet ships and the death of Soviet seamen. That Moscow could not take, especially with Peking jeering at the Soviets as a "tool of American imperialism," without reacting in a drastic fashion.

But, if American prisoners are tried and executed as war criminals or put to work in areas subjected to bombing, the pressure on the President to carry the strikes farther will be irresistible. Haiphong harbor is the obvious next step that the hawks in the Senate have been demanding. Moscow 10 days ago sent a note of warning with the charge that shrapnel had fallen on the decks of Soviet ships in Haiphong harbor following American raids in the area.

With each new turn of the screw political leaders in both East and West find they have less and less room to maneuver in the hope of preventing a bigger war. Mrs. Indira Gandhi ended her mission on a sorrowful note. She was returning to New Delhi empty-handed and with the realization that the continuing escalation of the war makes it difficult, if not impossible, to focus attention on the needs of her country. For Prime Minister Harold Wilson the cause of peace is even more urgent and at this writing seemingly just as hopeless. The Labor party is deeply divided on the Viet Nam war. In the face of this division Britain is fighting for economic survival, with the prime minister employing measures likely to alienate the trade unions and the same left-center Laborites opposing his support of American war policy.

As the pound slips bit by bit it is hardly an exaggeration to say that his position is desperate. Nor can he play the role of President Johnson's favorite friend, Prime Minister Harold Holt of Australia. Holt was invited back to Washington for a repeat performance of his declaration of unflinching support.

Premier Alexei Kosygin in talking with both Mrs. Gandhi and with Wilson stressed the need to end American bombing in North Viet Nam. The communist-bloc countries in Europe are reported preparing to rush more missiles and technicians to install missile sites to Hanoi.

The chances for even a temporary suspension of the bombing—a pause such as that of last winter—seem to be nil. Talking with visitors before he ordered the strike's on the Hanoi-Haiphong complex, the President expressed in his own earthy idiom his determination to punish Ho Chi Minh 10 times harder than ever before. To resist now would seem to be yielding to the threat to the prisoners. This is the implacable logic of escalation.

The Draft

Indianapolis, Ind.

The draft is too lopsided, inequitable, unfair and very inefficiently administered. We likely don't need a draft. Let's pay the boys in the service $100 a week to start. They deserve it. Then we will have a fully trained, fully qualified, highly professional type of military man.

Congressman Bob Ellsworth of Kansas analyzed the draft program. Here is what he found:

(1) Seventy-three percent of the potential draftees in 1-A had not been fully examined.

(2) One hundred eighteen thousand men classified 1-A had not been called for no good reason whatever.

(3) Two hundred eighty thousand men in the 1-A pool were "not available" because their papers were "stalled" between local draft boards and army induction centers.

(4) The draft is all fouled up in a "bureaucratic maze."

If the starting pay is raised to $100 weekly, and the quotas are then not filled, then we could blindfold someone and let him pull numbers out of a hat. It would be a lot fairer and more satisfactory.

WALT CHARLESWORTH

Seeking Cause

Hastings, Neb.

Of course we are all glad that Richard Speck has been caught, but that does very little to assuage our sorrow for the nurses who were slain. But can't we not learn a lesson from it?

What caused Speck to commit such a crime? Did the tattoo on his left arm affect his mind? It seems as though it did. He seems to have had a desire to make good on what the words said. The continuing effect of the words, "Born to Raise Hell," were largely responsible for Speck's terrible crime. I believe that psychologists would agree on that.

I believe that the man who made the tattoo was an accomplice in the crime, and should also be tried. He fastened evil upon Speck's life and that should be considered a crime in itself. If the tattoo had read, "Born to Be a Friend of Man," the influence would have been the opposite. If we can learn a good lesson or a means of stopping crime, then the nurses' lives will not have been given entirely in vain.

CONCERNED

Tax Equality

Seward, Neb.

The Nebraska State Grange believes the fairest tax would be a state income tax, with these characteristics:

(1) It would be based on Line 9 of the Internal Revenue Service Form 1040. This is before any personal exemptions.

(2) It would be slightly graduated—2% on the first $5,000, 4% on $5,000-$10,000, and 6% over $10,000. These percentages would vary depending on the amount to be raised.

(3) The rate would be set each year, just as the present property tax mill levy is set depending upon the amount of revenue needed.

(4) The withholding provisions would be incorporated.

(5) The corporation tax would be included but at a fixed rate in line with other states.

The Grange believes almost everyone should pay for services and benefits received from the state.

The present property tax has been shown to be so inequitable and is so high that many people will not own property because of it. A state cannot provide educational facilities and other services needed to build a thriving economy on such a tax base.

Promoters of the sales tax claim three good characteristics—everybody pays, payment is in such small amounts that it does not hurt, and tourists help pay the bill. An income tax would accomplish the same results, but much more equitably. Line 9 encompasses almost everyone except the very poor, whether young or old. The withholding provision makes the payment rather easy. And the tourist help is not as much as one might think, considering administrative costs.

The Grange favors retention of the Dues Amendment which guarantees state property tax replacement if and when a sales or income tax is adopted. The Grange also favors raising enough revenue through an equitable state income tax as suggested to replace a large portion of local school property taxes.

Meanwhile the Grange will support and lend every effort to retain the present state income tax law, LB797, whether alone or through "Nebraskans for Fair Taxation," or any organization working to keep LB797 by referendum vote in November.

Council Begins Long Review Of Mayor's Proposed Budget

By BOB SCHREPS
Star Staff Writer

The City Council Tuesday night began an estimated two weeks review of Mayor Dean Petersen's proposed city budget for fiscal 1966-67.

Gaining the council's immediate attention were accounts figured into the $9,573,791 in budgeted funds supported wholly or in part by taxes.

Tentative approval was given to requested amounts in 17 of 19 categories. The council indicated it wanted to question Mayor Petersen about salary provisions for an administrative assistant, and ordered further review of a $150,000 sum asked for land acquisition under the general expenses account.

Own Budget Adjusted

The council adjusted its own budget to an increase of $3,150 over the proposed amount (and $3,500 over last year's approved budget) to include an executive secretary for the council at an annual salary of $4,500. A total of $1,000 was sliced from both the school and conferences and professional services account.

Showing the biggest increase is the general expenses account, jumping from $204,659 appropriated for the current fiscal year to $389,460.

As explained by Finance Director James Mallon, this "catch-all" category reflects an increase in election expenses from $3,500 to $35,000. The requested amount should cover city costs in financing two city elections next spring plus a possible special liquor-by-the-drink ballot in November, Mallon said.

Not Approved

Other requested hikes in the general expense fund, not approved by the council pending further review, are $60,000 for the city's share of employee health and accident insurance premiums, $20,000 for retirement benefits, and an added $75,000 for land acquisition.

The total of $150,000 budgeted next year for land purchase would include funds to buy property for three fire stations ($50,000), finishing Lagoon Park land acquisition ($75,000) and funds for neighborhood parks ($30,000).

It was the land acquisition expense that will require further council debate.

During review of the council's proposed budget of $13,990, adjusted to $17,140, vice Chairman Mrs. Helen Boosalis commented "Here is where the people of Lincoln get the most for their money," apparently referring to Another Vote?

Council members briefly discussed submitting another salary increase proposition to the voters in the fall, in view of the defeat by voters at the special charter amendment election in May of a proposal to raise council pay to $3,000 yearly.

The council decided to hold up approval of the mayor's office budget until Petersen can be quizzed on his concept of an administrative assistant's duties.

Council members indicated they would rather spend extra money for a staff member who could be delegated authority, rather than be content with what Councilman John Comstock termed "an office boy."

Council review of the 1966-67 budget will continue with another evening session Thursday.

Following are the accounts given tentative approval by the council Tuesday night, and the amount of increase or decrease over last year:

Personnel, $32,957 (up $2,511); city attorney, $100,566 (up $16,759); directors, $51,445 (up $4,008); contingency fund, $100,000 (same); municipal court, $114,399 (up $17,230); clerk $34,055 (up $3,650); auditor, $17,524 (up $814); assessor, $22,763 (up $1,775).

Treasurer, $77,438 (down $4,300); special city reserve, $155,866 (same); fire and police pension, $347,570 (up $24,773); sinking fund, $365,000 (up $125,000); interest and coupons, $192,538 (up $70,000); judgments, $10,498 (same); social security, $82,452 (up $3,500) and purchasing, $32,844 (up $4,275).

Most account increases are accountable to merit pay increases for employees.

Top Jaycee Chapters In Betterment Honored

By JOHN DeFRAIN
Star Staff Writer

Five outstanding contributions to civic betterment by Junior Chamber of Commerce chapters were recognized Tuesday night each taking top honors in national community development competition co-sponsored by the U.S. Jaycees and the American Motors Corp.

Presentation of trophies and $2,000 in cash prizes was made at the Nebraska Center by U.S. Jaycee President Bill Suttle and Andrew F. Wilson, public affairs director of American Motors, during an awards banquet climaxing the annual Jaycee community development seminar.

The five winners of awards of excellence in community programming were: Hood River, Ore.; Ashland, Ky.; Beaver Dam, Wis.; Wahiawa, Hawaii, and Spring Lake Park, Minn.

Lincoln's Jaycee chapter was a mong five receiving honorable mention. Five others were judged superior.

Suttle, of Greensboro, N.C., complimented the winners for "continuing the Jaycee tradition of dedicated community improvement."

Suttle arrived in Lincoln Monday afternoon and visited the State Penitentiary Jaycees chapter. He said the inmates are carrying out an active program of development projects. Across the country, two officers of state Jaycee organizations have "graduated" from such chapters.

The president of the 260,000-member U.S. Jaycees attended the awards banquet with Gov. and Mrs. Frank Morrison. The governor was the featured speaker.

Morrison agreed with the Jaycees that the greatest resource is human personality. He said if we "are to develop human personality to the highest quality, we must pay attention to the environment" and improve it through community development programs.

Superior

Jaycee chapters receiving plaques for superior community development contributions were: Searford, Del.; Goldendale, Wash.; Palm Springs, Calif.; West Warwick, R.I., and Orofino, Idaho.

Jaycee chapters receiving honorable mention in community development judging were: Souhegan Valley, N.H.; Greer, S.C.; St. Louis, Mo.; Coldwater, Ohio, and Lincoln.

Each of the five top chapters, in addition to trophies, received $300 as did their state Jaycee organization.

LBJ's Australian Movies Scheduled For Library File

Canberra, Australia (AP)—The National Library of Australia soon will have a movie of Australian scenes filmed by Lyndon B. Johnson.

"Like most movie films taken by amateur photographers it is not the best example of the cinematic art but I have asked for a copy for the national archives," Holt said.

Sidney Asking Governor's Help For Airport Aid

Sidney (AP)—Gov. Frank Morrison has been asked to intervene with Federal Aviation Agency officials in Washington to see why the money for Sidney's airport improvement program has not been authorized.

City Manager George Felsch placed a call to the governor. When Gov. Morrison was here about three weeks ago he told city officials to call him if the authorization had not come through by July 15.

The authorization is already months behind the anticipated approval date and is causing some worries for city officials who want to get the runway at the airport lengthened by the end of the year in order to accommodate larger planes on the Frontier Airlines schedule.

Sidney put $100,000 into its own budget a year ago for airport work, and has included it again in the 1966-67 budget estimate.

Power Curtailment Committee Formed

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska Power Industry Committee Tuesday established a permanent subcommittee to plan for orderly cooperative curtailment of power use in the event of future emergency electrical blackouts.

The subcommittee includes representatives of the Nebraska Public Power System, Consumers Public Power District, Omaha Public Power District, rural electric districts and municipal utilities.

Its assignment will be "to establish a unified plan for curtailment of power use with the least trouble to everyone," according to Charles Ham of Sidney, NPIC chairman and manager of Wheat Belt Public Power District.

After Blackouts
Formation of the unit followed by one week major power blackouts in the eastern two-thirds of the state, excluding the Omaha service area.

Nebraska power leaders do not anticipate future blackouts, Ham said, but they want to be prepared to react in a unified manner in case of power failure.

Last week's blackouts were not caused by an overload of demand, Ham stressed. They were the result of malfunctions of electric facilities, he said.

Sufficient
There is sufficient power supply available today to handle Nebraska loads "if we don't have disasters" like last week's equipment failures, Ham said.

No one, he said, can guarantee 100% service anywhere in the nation.

A unified plan for power curtailment will assure that all essential power needs are met and that restoration of full service is made "faster and more fairly to everybody," Ham pointed out.

"It will provide for an orderly, voluntary curtailment of power done largely on a local level."

Ham praised NPPS and the public for their reaction to last week's problems.

"The system handled it very admirably," Ham said, "and the cooperation of the public in curtailing use of power was terrific."

Delayed
Meanwhile, Ham reported that NPIC's long-range power supply study has been delayed about two months by increased emphasis on nuclear power for future generation plants.

The study, which will consider power supply needs from 1969 to 1985, should be completed in December, he noted. New data is now being gathered on nuclear power costs.

Next NPIC meeting is scheduled for Sept. 20.

Governor Seeks Disaster Ruling For Seward Co.

Gov. Frank Morrison Tuesday asked U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman to declare Seward County as a drought disaster area.

The request seeks to release federally-diverted acres for grazing of underfed cattle.

Monday, the governor requested six other Nebraska counties be listed as drought disaster areas.

NEWS

of suburban areas

If Lincoln doesn't grow to twice its present size within the next few years it won't be because of lack of new arrivals to our city. They keep on coming. And a hot summer hasn't put a damper on any activities either, as Lincoln residents keep busy with guests, vacations, and birthdays.

PERSHING HEIGHTS

Last week was a busy week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Allen, what with birthdays and guests. On Monday, July 11, Mrs. Allen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Minzel, of Lincoln, came over to spend the evening.

Tuesday was Mrs. Allen's birthday, and a small, spontaneous (and lightly sprinkled) patio party was a relaxing way to celebrate. Mrs. Allen and her neighbor, Mrs. Guy Sedoris, provided the food, and guests included Mrs. Allen's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Minzel, and their daughter, Debbie, Lee Schlegel, and Alan and Brenda Schlegel, along with the Allen and Sedoris families.

Then Friday was Wesley Allen's 13th birthday, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Minzel, brought over a watermelon as party fare. And, as any 13 year-old will tell you, watermelon and cake are a fine way to celebrate.

COTNER TERRACE

There are houseguests at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Forrest Morningstar, and more expected. The former are son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Morningstar, and son, Kent, of Maysville, Ky. To arrive this week are their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hendrickson, and their son, Scott, from Sioux Falls, S.D.

Mrs. Morningstar is planning a family gathering this week. And this will include another daughter-in-law, Mrs. David Morningstar, and her children, Sheri and David, all of Milford. Mr. Morningstar is currently attending an electrical workshop at Bradley University in Peoria, Ill. He is a teacher at the Milford Vocational Technical Institute.

A nice place to be employed is at a Colorado resort, and recently returned from this work-vacation combination are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Harman, of Lincoln, who spent three weeks at Estes Park, Colo. Mr. and Mrs. Harman are the brother-in-law and sister of Mrs. Ernest Case, of Cotner Terrace.

BERLENE HEIGHTS

Three-day measles didn't keep Janet Ogden, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ogden, from having a happy 10th birthday last Monday. She has a houseguest from Shenandoah, Iowa to keep her company this week. Miss Gail Whitaker, 9. So, now that the measles has subsided, it's time for some fun!

COLONIAL VILLAGE

New to Lincoln and Colonial Drive are Mr. and Mrs. Larry Bolar, and their sons, Mike, 5, and Mark, 2, who moved recently from Columbia, Mo.

The Girl Scouts Study Indian Lore

The Girl Scouts in Lincoln are having an interesting summer. The summer program might well be called a "learn while having fun" project.

Actually the official name is the Girl Scout Junior Summer Badge program, and its purpose is to give the Girl Scouts ideas by way of specialized leadership and training.

This year the Nebraska State Historical Society entered into the program when Mrs. Judy Stewart, curator of education at the Historical Society, and Miss Joyce Mains instructed the Scouts in Indian lore. The study included the history of the American Indian — his home, costumes, the manner in which he earned his living and where the Indians are residing at the present time.

Adding to the historical facts concerning the American Indian were the Indian dances, songs and games which were taught to the Junior Scouts by Mrs. L. W. Van Cleaves' senior Scout Troop.

The Girl Scout office hopes to have 100 girls who will have completed this program before the end of summer. The last session opens today, and the office states that there still is room for 20 girls. Anyone interested may call the Girl Scout office.

Four Thousand Careerists Will Invade Atlanta, When B, PW Convention Opens

There will be an invasion of Atlanta, Ga., next week, and the invaders are women—hundreds and hundreds of them from all over the United States. It is the national convention of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, and it will be attended by 4,000 business and professional women.

The national convention is the meeting of the National Federation voting body, and is held annually for the purpose of refocusing Federation objectives, electing officers, considering and adopting necessary policies, to create a budget and to construct a legislative platform.

The convention opens on Sunday, July 24, at the Marriott Motor Hotel and on the program will be numerous prominent speakers, and several special features—the presentation of the Top Hat award, for one. Top Hat awards will be presented to leaders from the areas of investments, retailing, publishing, education, broadcasting and food manufacturing, just to name a few.

Nebraska is to be well represented at the convention as well it should be since one of its own, Miss Sally Jane Cunningham, is president-elect of the National Federation. Following the election returns on Tuesday, July 26, there is to be a demonstration by the Nebraska delegation—a colorful one, we might add, since the women all are wearing red jackets and red hats.

The Nebraska state delegates include Mrs. Ramona Freeman of Chappell; Mrs. Fran Johnson of Grand Island; Mrs. Margaret Hart of Omaha and Miss Lucile Stutheit of Scottsbluff who also serves as the Nebraska representative on the national nominating committee. In addition to the four state delegates each of the other 39 Nebraska clubs will send delegates. Mrs. Lila Chisholm, for instance, will attend as a delegate from the Lincoln Business and Professional Women's Club of which she is president.

The Nebraska Federation is presenting a neon sign to the National B, PW headquarters in honor of Miss Cunningham.

One of those special features of the convention that we mentioned is the reception at 4 o'clock on Sunday afternoon when the Young Career women will be honored at a reception. On hand to greet the young careerists will be the members of the national board, and the state presidents.

Chosen by the Nebraska Federation to represent it as Young Career woman will be Mrs. Bill Harris of McCook.

DEAR ABBY

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband has a very hot temper. He tried to call home for two hours yesterday and the line was busy because our teenage daughter was talking. Well, Angelo left work, stormed into the house and tore our telephone out by the roots. I was ashamed to tell the telephone repairman how it happened, so I said the dog did it.)

If one of the children leaves his bicycle or a toy in the driveway, Angelo deliberately drives over it. A friend of mine who has studied a lot of psychology told me that this is "healthy" for Angelo because it gets the anger out of his system, which if he kept bottled up inside might give him ulcers. But, what is the rest of the family supposed to do while Angelo protects himself against ulcers?

ANGELO'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: They protect themselves against Angelo.

DEAR ABBY: Somebody must have been pulling your leg. A man who signed himself "CRITICIZED" wrote to say that his wife's cousin was being buried on the same Saturday morning that his brother's son was becoming Bar Mitzvah. Abby, this is not possible. Jewish people are NEVER—but NEVER buried on a Saturday.

A RABBI
DEAR RABBI: I know they aren't. But the wife's cousin wasn't Jewish.

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem which I am sure must bother other newlyweds. Why does a young wife feel that if she doesn't see or call her mother every single day, the world will come to an end? My wife seems to have this idea. She says she's afraid her mother might get "upset" if she isn't in touch with her daily.

Her mother is in good health and has a husband to look after her. Why don't mothers let their married daughters grow up and be independent? Or am I wrong to take this attitude?

DEAR HUSBAND, You are assuming a great deal when you assume that it's the mother who "refuses to let her married daughter grow up and be independent. Perhaps the daughter is hanging on to her mother.

I see nothing wrong with a daughter (married or single) keeping in touch with her mother daily. And if you do, perhaps you should ask yourself why.

Opening lead — two of hearts.

Here is an unusual hand played in the Spingold some years ago. The bidding was weird for a while, but South eventually wound up in the reasonable contract of three notrump.

West led a heart and South took the jack with the ace. Declarer then cashed the ace of spades, East discarding a club and continued with a spade, taken in dummy with the seven, East discarding another club.

A diamond to the king was followed by a third round of spades which West took with the king as East discarded still another club. At this point, West played the king and another heart, the position being:

North

South

It would seem that South must now go down if East wins the six of hearts with the queen and plays another heart. The defense would apparently score a spade, three hearts and a club to defeat the contract one trick.

However, this analysis is not quite accurate. West would be forced to discard a club on the fourth round of hearts and he could then be put into the lead on the fourth round of diamonds to compel a spade return into the Q-10. On this line of play South would wind up with nine tricks.

East (Alfred Sheinwald, Los Angeles star) foresaw the danger and overcame it by permitting declarer to win the six of hearts. This highly alert play eliminated the potential squeeze and endplay, and South wound up going down one.

AN EARLY autumn bride-elect

Mrs. Wilbur Little of Tecumseh makes announcement this morning of the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Margaret, of Lincoln, to Dwight Wilson, also of Lincoln, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wilson of Sterling.

The wedding will take place on Saturday, Sept. 3.

Miss Little attended the National Business Institute. Her fiance now is a student at the Milford Technical Institute.

Summer Beauty

It is easy to have a smooth lovely complexion, despite the skin-coarsening effect of summer. The pores open much wider in the heat so it's essential that they have free movement to open and close without being clogged. Protect from cosmetic pigments, dust, and powder by smoothing on your oil of Olay. This will also protect the complexion against harsh sun rays and will give the skin a milky bloom even on the hottest days. Use your lemon jelly daily to refine and tone.

... Margaret Merrill.

Attendant

Miss Dianne Robison, whose marriage to George R. Klippert will take place on July 30, at St. Mark's Methodist Church, makes announcement of the bridal attendants this morning.

For her maid of honor the bride-elect has chosen her sister, Miss June Ellen Robison, and her bridesmaids will be Miss Linda Ferguson and Miss Jenna Bagley.

Kirk Klippert will serve his brother as best man, and the ushers will be Larry Abbott of Omaha; Michael Lamson and Randy Paulson.

POSTCARD

Traveler reports are out from the Passport Office. "Shows a significant increase in the number of people visiting Africa."

There's a new TV series with a new Tarzan, too. It shows the trend.

"Memsahib nakwisha piga nyati!"

That's a handy phrase for the person going to Africa. It is Swahili for, "My wife has shot a buffalo."

I get this kind of info from the swank Mount Kenya Safari Club. I never got to this club. But Joe Glaston, the press agent, used to send us gold elephant bookends just like our membership cards. (Joe has gone to Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas, and we miss him.)

Anyway, Joe sent us phrase books—where we learned to say, "Our wife shot a buffalo."

We didn't get to the club which is way down in Nairobi. But we had a kind of togetherness.

The Passport Office doesn't say who's going to Africa. But we suppose it is the Ugly Americans.

CARMICHAEL

THERE'S NOTHING LIKE GUEST TOWELS TO MAKE YOU HOMESICK---

7-20

There are a lot of safari type movies. And they all feature the Ugly American, his wife (who shoots the buffalo) and the White Hunter.

The Ugly American is ugly because he insists on shooting two elephants. It is obvious one elephant is plenty for dinner.

He is a cad to his wife. She is soft on the White Hunter.

Any movie will convince you that Africa gets a poor class of visitor. And you get nothing but trouble. Still, passports show increased travel. So it may be there are a lot of people just asking for misery.

If you must go to Africa, your job is to make the White Hunter look good by being so Ugly yourself.

You say: "What! Me follow that wounded leopard into the brush? You must be out of your ever-loving mind!"

The White Hunter explains: "On safari, we do not allow wounded animals to die alone."

There is no word but his that the leopard is alone. He may be surrounded by relatives and lawyers with wills. And more medical help than was around when they were pulling lead out of Dutch Schultz.

But a little cowardice on your side makes the White Hunter look good.

You sneer at your wife: "I'm going back to camp and beat the natives."

She raises her gun — to her you look like buffalo.

Bang! "Sorry." Or in Swahili — "Oops!"

We got a dictionary of Swahili phrases. "Those are shorts — I want long trousers."

"Do not give me a white shirt. The game will see it."

"Where is my hat?"

"Is there another blanket? I am cold at night." "Take off one blanket. I am hot at night."

It is a perfect dictionary for an Ugly American. Full of such whining complaints. It is truly Ugly.

Be sure to drop into the Club while you're in Africa. Give everybody my regards.

Be sure to complain that there's too much vermouth in the martini.

Tell them, "Nice place you've got here. But it isn't '21,' ha, ha."

Shoot two elephants. Beat the natives. Let the White Hunter go after the wounded leopard if he's so anxious.

Be sure to take your wife — she belongs in the plot.

Denial Of Guilty Plea Retraction Is Appealed

By Associated Press

A lawyer representing Anthony F. Pitzel told the State Supreme Court Tuesday that the Douglas County District Court erred in refusing to permit Pitzel to withdraw a guilty plea to charges of wife and child abandonment.

Pitzel was adjudged guilty and was sentenced to one year in the Nebraska Penal Complex.

In a brief filed with the Supreme Court in support of his appeal, Pitzel contended he had not been fully advised of his rights.

Pitzel "did not fully understand the effect of the plea of guilty and actually pleaded guilty because he was desperate and worn out," having spent three months in jail "without accomplishing any end result or being able to see an ultimate end of this incarceration," the brief said.

Dabney Brief

Also filed Tuesday was a brief in behalf of Fred Dabney, a Nebraska Penal Complex inmate serving a 20-year term for second degree murder. Seeking relief under Nebraska's post-conviction law, Dabney contends the Douglas County District Court erred in failing to grant him an evidentiary hearing on his motion to vacate and set aside his sentence.

He contends also that the court erred in failing to hold that his constitutional right to counsel had been violated by the state's failure to appoint an attorney to represent him in an appeal of his conviction to the State Supreme Court.

The brief noted that Dabney, after his conviction, wrote letters to the Douglas County District Court clerk and the State Supreme Court asking aid.

"It is urged upon this court," said the brief, "that neither the clerk of the district court of Douglas County nor the clerk of the Supreme Court of Nebraska operate in a vacuum. They are officers and agents of their respective courts and having been put on notice that appellant was in need of assistance, it was their duty to act affirmatively and not to ignore the plea of appellant in hopes he would go away."

"Anything less places the appellant at a substantial disadvantage merely because of his poverty and ignorance."

Withhoff Predicts Sorensen Club Will Be Smallest

Fremont (UPI) — GOP State Chairman Walter Withhoff predicted Tuesday the recently formed Republicans for Sorensen Committee will be "the smallest political organization in Nebraska."

The committee was started to promote the political fortunes of Lt. Gov. Philip C. Sorensen, Democratic nominee for governor.

Withhoff scoffed at the group, stating that in the coming fall campaign Republicans will be united "to an extent" heretofore unheard of — at least during the time I've been state chairman."

Sorensen's opponent in the November election is Wausa banker Norbert T. Tiemann. Withhoff also said N. P. Dodge of Omaha, chairman of the GOP group supporting Sorensen, "was incorrect in stating that the lieutenant governor was in the best tradition of Nebraska Republicanism."

"It is not surprising that Democrats are now trying to shroud themselves with republicanism, but Phil Sorensen will be identified more closely with his brother's comment that Nebraska is a good place to be from or a good place to die," Withhoff said.

A public hearing will be held at 10 a.m. July 27 on Lancaster County's proposed 1966-67 fiscal year budget of $940,081, an increase of $940,081 over last year's adopted budget.

Of this total, $2,340,947 would be raised through local taxes as compared with $1,877,431 raised through taxes last year.

Until the county's valuation is determined, it is impossible to predict a possible levy if all requests should be approved by the Lancaster County Board.

None Unusually High
Most departmental request increases were in salaries, increased operational costs and new supplies and equipment, with no unusually high requests in any area.

New budgets included this year included the newly created noxious weed authority and an operating budget for the county convalescent unit which submitted requests of $48,835 and $50,500 respectively.

The largest single increase is in the courthouse building fund which has a proposed budget of $945,000. The revenue for this fund will come from the courthouse bonds approved by voters last year.

2 Lincoln Hospitals Full In Some Areas

Two of three Lincoln hospitals reported Tuesday that they were "very, very full" in medical and surgical areas, and the third reported that it was approaching capacity in those areas.

The situation shows a patient load ten to 15% above the patient load in July, 1965. The problem was attributed to the increased number of elderly patients, partly due to Medicare and partly to the recent hot weather.

Lincoln General administrators reported that they were running at "above capacity" in their medical and surgical space, adding beds in reserved space and already-occupied rooms.

Approximately 52% of the hospital's adult bed space is occupied by people over 65. It was stressed that this did not include the hospital's bed space in areas such as obstetrics.

Near Capacity
Bryan Memorial authorities described their medical and surgical patient load as "very near capacity," with approximately 47% of the patients 65 or older. This was in contrast to 34% a year ago. St. Elizabeth administrators announced that approximately 39% of their patient load is made up of people 65 or older, contrasted to 33% a year ago.

Total patient load at St. Elizabeth stood at 82%, contrasted with 71% a year ago. Administrators said that there was still space, but that the patient load is "starting to get tight" in medical and surgical areas.

None of the hospitals has had to turn away medical and surgical patients, but administrators adopted a "wait and see" attitude toward the future.

Too Soon To Tell
"I wouldn't like to hazard any speculations about trends and so forth, until we're 90 to 120 days into Medicare," one said. "At any rate, it's too soon to tell."

Luther E. Egan, Social Security claims supervisor of the Lincoln area, denied that any "acute problems" had been presented to the district office.

"We've had some problems with the Home Health program in areas where it can't be provided," he said, "and quite a few personal questions and problems which we've had to straighten out. But no acute problems have come to my attention."

FRANK, MIA HITCHED

Las Vegas, Nev. (AP) — Singer Frank Sinatra, 50, and actress Mia Farrow, 21, were married Tuesday in a ceremony attended by a few friends. Sands Hotel President Jack Entratter, a friend of Sinatra, gave the bride away.

After the ceremony Sinatra, his bride and Entratter walked out onto the porch of their wedding suite. "I think I handled it pretty good," Sinatra said, putting his arm around the bride.

Sinatra, dressed in a dark suit with checkered tie, waved at newsmen and pointed at Mia: "How are you, baby... my bride." Miss Farrow, dressed in a white silk faille dress with diamond-like buttons, smiled.

"We decided to be married about 20 minutes ago," Sinatra said, jokingly, then added: "The plans were made last week."

The ceremony lasted only five minutes. Their license was issued Tuesday afternoon to Francis Sinatra of Cathedral City, Calif., and Maria Mia Farrow of West Los Angeles. It was a one-ring ceremony. Families were not present.

The couple left immediately by jet for New York, and planned to spend two days there, then go on to London.

Red's Wife Accidentally Shot

Las Vegas, Nev. (AP) — The wife of comedian Red Skelton was accidentally shot in the chest early Tuesday in her hotel bedroom on the Las Vegas strip, the Clark County sheriff's office said.

Mrs. Georgia Skelton, 42, was in satisfactory condition at Sunrise Hospital. Her attending physician, Dr. Thomas Newman, said the bullet apparently missed her lung.

Skelton broke into tears when he learned of the shooting after he completed his midnight show at the Sands Hotel, where the Skeltons are staying. "He was completely shaken," said Al Freeman, assistant to Sands President Jack Entratter. "We took him into her hospital room so he could regain his composure."

"The gun was on the night stand and it went off accidentally," detective Lt. Glenn Simmons quoted Mrs. Skelton as saying. He said she was under heavy sedation.

The shot was heard by the Skeltons' daughter, Valentina, 19, and a college friend, Art Coleman, also 19, who were in the Skelton suite.

Mrs. Skelton was shot as her husband walked onstage several floors below. The Skeltons had celebrated Red's 52nd birthday hours earlier during his first show.

Soviet Policy Affected By Red China Blackmail

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Soviet attitudes toward Viet Nam leave the impression that the Red Chinese have hit upon an effective form of blackmail which permits them a large measure of influence over Kremlin policy. The Chinese become more and more vituperative in accusing the Kremlin of plotting with the United States to achieve peace in Viet Nam. And Moscow appears to be more and more on the defensive.

As if fearful of providing the Chinese with evidence that the Soviet leaders are lukewarm revolutionaries, the Kremlin retires behind a stone wall of noncooperation. It rejects any suggestion that it might occupy the role of referee to lessen the South-East Asian threat to world peace.

Peking bludgeons the Kremlin day after day with violent abuse. Vice Premier Chen Yi calls the Soviet leaders "accomplices and flunkies of U.S. imperialism." People's Daily calls Moscow "the hub of Washington intrigues." It brushes aside Soviet denials as nonsense and alleges "U.S.-Soviet secret collusion to force the Vietnamese people to accept peace talks" by the bombing of the outskirts of Hanoi and Haiphong.

Prove Support

The more violent such attacks, the more the Kremlin leaders seem to try to prove that they are indeed heart and soul behind the Vietnamese communist cause and rigidly against compromise.

Premier Alexei N. Kosygin rejected the approaches of British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, then had this rebuttal announced to a news conference.

Kosygin declined to use the Soviet position as cochairman of the 1954 Geneva Conference to reconvene its members. He turned down suggestions that he intercede with Hanoi to withdraw its threat to try U.S. prisoners as war criminals.

There has been evidence that Moscow fears an escalation of the Viet Nam war might get out of hand. Two new factors could contribute to significant escalation. One is the threat to try the American prisoners, the other Red China's offer of its territory as a rear area for the Vietnamese communists.

However, both China and Russia appear to have provided themselves with safety valves. Both leave key decisions to the Hanoi regime.

Polish Mob Breaks U.S. Embassy Gate

Warsaw, Poland (AP) — A crowd of Polish soldiers and civilians demonstrating against the U.S. Viet Nam campaign broke through the gates of the American embassy Tuesday and caused several thousand dollars damage before dispersing. No Americans were hurt.

The destructive, window-smashing demonstration prompted U.S. Ambassador John A. Gronouski to telephone a tough protest to the Polish foreign ministry against what he called "this act of vandalism."

Gronouski told newsmen, "We have no objection to expressions of opinion, but we do object strongly to the participation by uniformed soldiers and by a member of the militia, and the total failure to provide embassy protection."

The ambassador charged that Polish police stood idly by while part of the crowd broke through the gate and occupied embassy property.

Not only did they permit the mob to destroy property but in one instance a member of the police force—a citizens militiaman—picked up a large cement block and smashed it through a window, he added.

City Changes Tactics On Air Service

The city will seek help at higher levels to obtain more adequate air service, the Lincoln Airport Authority indicated Tuesday.

Chairman Robert Phillips, noting that other cities of comparable size have succeeded in winning better air service, said, "Obviously we've been doing the wrong thing."

Authority members and attorney Chauncey Barney talked with Gov. Frank Morrison last week and gained the governor's assurance that "his influence will be brought to bear at the Washington level."

To 'Make Round'
It was reported that the governor will "make the rounds" in Washington, D.C., this week to speed up action on Civil Aeronautics Board hearings on schedule realignment applications holding Lincoln's interests.

The city is pressing especially for non-stop, or at least one-carrier, service to Chicago and St. Louis.

Barney suggested that to underscore statewide air needs, Morrison might ponder calling a governor's conference on the adequacy of air service.

Also scheduled is an autumn meeting with the Omaha Airport Authority. Executive Director Roland Harr said that his Omaha counterpart, Ron Greer, told him a joint meeting would be most feasible after Sept. 1, when a study of Omaha air service needs will be made public.

Added Trunk Service
Both cities have notified airlines now serving them that additional trunk service is being sought.

In other action, the board authorized Harr to hire a superintendent of maintenance and operation and a chief electrician in anticipation of the authority's takeover of Lincoln Air Force Base property Aug. 11.

Harr was also given discretionary authority to hire four other new employees in field maintenance and building maintenance if needed during the next month.

The action came after member Joe Hampton reviewed a personnel study and organization chart which calls for the hiring of additional personnel in view of the increased maintenance load.

Additional new employment will be subject to the decision of the authority board.

The board also passed a resolution adopting city personnel rules and pay schedules for authority employees.

CAB Approves $4.5 Million Loan By RKO To Frontier

Washington (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board announced Tuesday its approval of a $4.5 million loan by RKO General, Inc., to Frontier Airlines, Inc., a local service carrier.

The board has approved acquisition of Frontier by the General Tire & Rubber Co., of which RKO is a wholly owned subsidiary. RKO had acquired most of the airlines stock.

The board's consent to this transaction was subject to the condition that it must approve any commercial transaction between Frontier and RKO totaling more than $100,000 a year.

The loan will help Frontier finance the purchase and conversion of three Convair 340 aircraft to Convair 580 jet-prop planes and the purchase of three Boeing 727 jets.

The loan is part of a $20 million financing — $10.5 million from the Chase-Manhattan Bank of New York, $5 million from Boeing, and the rest from RKO, all at 5.75% interest.

The bank and Boeing will be repaid over a seven-year period and RKO will be repaid during the three years thereafter.

Housing Starts Lowest Since 1961 Recession

Washington (AP) — Housing starts dropped again during June to the lowest level in more than five years but the fall wasn't as hard as the 14% tumble of a month earlier.

The continuing decline in housing starts to the lowest level since the recession of early 1961, however, triggered the national home builders to call an emergency meeting for July 27 to discuss depressed housing conditions and to lobby on Capitol Hill for more mortgage money.

Schneider, Olson Win Ribbons At Engineers Meet

Two University of Nebraska agricultural engineers have been notified that they won blue ribbons with their contest entries at the recent meeting of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers.

Rollin D. Schneider, Extension farm safety specialist, won two ribbons. One was with an instructive display called "This May Save Your Life." The other was for a publication on "Safe Tractor Operation."

E. A. Olson, Extension farm buildings specialist, won a blue ribbon with an article published in the NU Farm, Ranch and Home Quarterly entitled, "New! Concrete Tilt-Up for Farm Buildings."

The Census Bureau, in its monthly report, said the number of new privately owned housing units begun during June dropped to a seasonally adjusted annual level of 1,228,000 units, 0.1% below May's revised level.

The bureau had previously figured May's level at 1,306,000 units on an annual basis but dropped that Tuesday to 1,295,000, like June the lowest since May 1961, when the seasonally adjusted annual rate was 1,248,000.

The National Association of Home Builders has repeatedly charged that the industry has been a sacrificial goat in the administration's drive to stem inflation.

The scarcity of mortgage money, one phase of the current tight money market which is marked by an interest rate war for savings between commercial banks and savings and loan associations, is a major factor in the receding number of housing starts.

Earlier this year, the securities and exchange commission reported a slowdown in the growth of savings deposits at banks and savings and loan associations and a shift of individual savings toward government bonds and mutual funds.

Banks and S&L's have been raising their interest rates over the past several months in an attempt to attract more savings.

The Johnson administration has already asked Congress for "prompt legislative action" to prevent further increases in interest rates which in California have reached 5-7 1/2% on some types of bonus accounts.

Katzenbach: Realtor Lobby In Conspiracy

Washington (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said Tuesday the activity of real estate lobbyists on Capitol Hill indicates a "conspiracy" to deny Negroes equal access to housing.

Katzenbach testified before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee considering President Johnson's 1966 civil rights bill. He said there had been massive lobbying efforts against the measure.

"If you don't think that kind of conspiracy exists," he told Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, "I'll ask you what the real estate brokers have been doing around Congress for the last six months."

Dirksen had said that many people try to make it appear "the sun is going to stand still" unless the housing section is enacted.

Katzenbach said the fair housing legislation is "absolutely essential" to the goal of wiping out racial ghettos and preventing big city riots.

The bill also would ban discrimination in jury selection, and would strengthen penalties for racial violence and speed up desegregation of schools and public facilities.

'Pussycat,' Jerry Lewis' Yacht, Breaks

Monterey, Calif. (AP) — Comedian Jerry Lewis' new 65-foot, $350,000 yacht "Pussycat" was battered to pieces Tuesday on the rocky Monterey County coast.

Lewis, 40, and four companions, made their way to shore uninjured.

Lewis, at the wheel of the big boat, was en route from San Francisco to San Diego when a leak sent water pouring into the craft off San Simeon.

With Lewis was Hal Bell, 40, the comedian's stage manager; Lewis' secretary, Miss Carol Saraceno, 28, and crewmen Joe Proux, 42, and Art Glennon, 32.

Lewis called the Coast Guard and moved the ship closer inshore. Water stopped the two engines 15 minutes after sunset. Those aboard put on life jackets, anchored the yacht, climbed into a rubber raft and made shore. No one was injured.

The "Pussycat" broke loose from its anchor and was smashed on the coastal rocks.

Lewis had planned to take his wife and five of their six children on a cruise into Mexican waters this summer.

Lewis finished a week's engagement here Sunday.

Three of the party were taken to the Piedras Blancas Lighthouse, near the wreck, for rest. They declined telephone calls. Lewis went to a motel.

Kennedy, Nixon Expected To Visit State This Fall

Political insiders said Tuesday former vice president Richard Nixon and Massachusetts Sen. Edward F. (Ted) Kennedy will make appearances in Nebraska this fall in support of office seekers of their respective parties.

Nixon is Republican; Kennedy, Democrat.

Dates of the visits were not reported.

Nixon announced recently he would spend five weeks in a nationwide campaign this fall for GOP congressional and senatorial candidates.

FACULTY CLUB ADDITION . . . with room for 120.

NU Faculty Club Addition To Be Done By Sept. 1; Cost: $30,000

A $30,000 addition to the Faculty Club of the University of Nebraska at 1520 R is expected to be completed and in operation by Sept. 1. Faculty Club President Keith Newhouse, professor of mechanical engineering, said Tuesday.

The addition contains food service facilities, including a dining room and kitchen, with space enough for 120 people. The addition was necessitated by the recent sanitation order which required food service areas to be moved out of basement locations, Newhouse said.

The Faculty Club, as well as some other on-campus organizations, were forced to move their food service above ground.

Approximately $10,000 has been raised by club members in loans and direct contributions, Newhouse said. The remaining $20,000 will be paid off with membership fees and meal charges.

The University of Nebraska Foundation has granted the club an additional $10,000 for refurbishing the old lounge area and for new furniture for the addition.

The addition is expected to substantially increase the present membership of the club, now about 200. Newhouse predicted an aggressive membership drive next year.

The Faculty Club moved into its R St. location in September of 1958. The building had earlier been a sorority house, and later became known as International House, a rooming house for female foreign-exchange students, in the 1940s and early 1950s.

Defense Bill OK Labeled Signal For Hanoi

Washington (UPI) — The House moved Tuesday toward lopsided approval of a record $58.6 billion defense bill, labeled by its chief sponsor as a signal to Hanoi that the United States will not quit Viet Nam.

Swollen to its enormous size by the Southeast Asian conflict, the legislation is supposed to finance most of the activities of U.S. military forces during the coming 12 months.

But Chairman George Mahon, D-Tex., of the House Appropriations Committee told his colleague the bill represented more than dollars. He said its passage — expected Wednesday — would be one of the strongest indications that Congress supported a policy calling for "the successful prosecution of the war."

The tall Texan said there was no encouragement in the bill for opponents who hoped the United States would get tired and quit.

"It is a signal to the world. Will Hanoi misread this signal? It will be the height of folly to do so," he said.

As it stands, the measure is the costliest since World War II. But Viet Nam costs are likely to go even higher, Mahon informed the House that unless the war ends this year — and he said few people believed it would — President Johnson would be back in January asking for more defense funds.

Tax Increase May Foot Bill For Congress

Washington (UPI) — President Johnson warned Tuesday that if Congress doesn't stop spending so much money, he may have to ask for a tax increase to pay for it all and to fight inflation.

Johnson told reporters that Congress had already added "a little less than $1 billion" to his current budget and was threatening to add between $5 billion and $6 billion. The money is for schools, farmers, clean rivers, military and civilian pay and a host of other items.

In addition, the President said, if the war in Viet Nam goes on "at the present rate . . . beyond June 1967," Congress will have to pass a defense money bill.

He said he had done all he could to hold down his own budget requests and to reduce actual outlays. As a result, the deficit in fiscal 1966, which ended June 30, was $2.3 billion instead of $6.4 billion he predicted in January, he said.

The President called members of the Senate and House appropriations committees to the White House Tuesday and asked them, to "scrutinize every proposed add-on to the budget" with an eye toward reducing expenditures.

Johnson said he found lawmakers "very cooperative and very anxious to maintain a sound fiscal situation." He said he had not presented them with "any ultimatum."

"What I said is, 'Fellows, you go and see if you really want to add to this $113 billion, and we hope that you won't. We recommend that you don't,'" he said.

CPPD Bids For New Substation In Winslow Area

Consumers Public Power District has filed an application with the State Power Review Board for authority to build a 115-34.5 kilovolt stepdown substation on an existing Nebraska Public Power System (NPPS) 115 kilovolt transmission line in the Winslow vicinity in Dodge County.

The CPPD application said the substation would provide power to existing Consumers lines, with power to be transmitted over a line proposed to be built by the Burt County Rural Public Power District of Tekamah.

A waiver from the Burt County district accompanied the application.

The Burt County district also filed a request for permission to construct 14 miles of line in Washington and Dodge Counties, contingent upon approval of the CPPD application.

Civil War Feared In Sukarno Clashes

. . . FRIENDS, FOES FIGHT

Jakarta, Indonesia (AP) — Fear of civil war in central Java increased Tuesday as reports poured in of clashes between opponents and supporters of President Sukarno.

Li Gen. Suharto, the Indonesian strongman, made a speech at a student conference in Jakarta asking the members to tone down their utterances.

His talk appeared designed to cool off the powerful student group—called KAMI—that led the fight resulting in stripping Sukarno of his once all-powerful authority.

As tension rose in Jakarta, reports told of fighting between pro- and anti-Sukarno forces in central Java, long a stronghold of the president.

One report said marines lined up with the pro-Sukarno Indonesian Nationalist Party in Surakarta, a central Javanese city about 270 miles east of Jakarta. They were said to have broken into the headquarters of KAMI, the student group.

The Faculty Club moved into its R St. location in September of 1958. The building had earlier been a sorority house, and later became known as International House, a rooming house for female foreign-exchange students, in the 1940s and early 1950s.

dent action front and roughed up members.

Maj. Suroto of the Diponegoro Division in central Java, said one person was killed and five injured during fighting in Surakarta two weeks ago.

Saigon Would Ask U.S. Withdrawal If Reds Will

Saigon (UPI) — The Vietnamese government announced Wednesday it will ask Americans to withdraw from the country if North Viet Nam will withdraw its troops from South Viet Nam and the National Liberation Front (Viet Cong) is dissolved.

The announcement came in a proclamation carried over radio Saigon in observance of Geneva Day. It was on July 20, 1954, that the Geneva Accords were signed resulting in the partition of the country into North and South Viet Nam.

The government said that there were three necessary steps that must be taken before there can be peace:

—North Viet Nam must withdraw all forces and political cadres illegally operating in the south.

—Activities Stopped —The National Liberation Front must be dissolved and military, terrorist and subversive activities must be stopped.

—The Geneva agreement must be respected "in spirit" in order for the people of the south to freely decide their fate in accordance with democratic principles.

The proclamation said that if these conditions are met, the bombing raids over North Viet Nam will be stopped immediately.

At the same time, the announcement said, the "government and the people of Viet Nam will request the allied forces to withdraw from the territory in order that the people from both sides can freely decide their lives and at the same time reconstruct the country in peace and happiness."

U.S. Aware —In Washington, administration officials said they were aware that South Viet Nam planned to make the announcement.

But there was no immediate information as to whether this gesture on the anniversary of the 1954 Geneva settlement in Indochina had been suggested by the United States or was Saigon's idea.

Saigon's declaration that the 1954 Geneva agreement must be observed "in spirit" indicated to observers in Washington that Ky's government wanted to return to the principles but not the exact terms of that accord. It provided for inspection and enforcement only by the three-nation International Control Commission—composed of representatives of Communist Poland, neutralist India and Canada.

The United States contended in 1954, as did the Saigon government, and still contends that adequate supervision of withdrawals and elections to determine the wishes of the inhabitants should be under the United Nations.

Hanoi Excludes Third Party Peace Efforts

Tokyo (UPI) — North Viet Nam Wednesday slammed the door on all third country peace efforts in the Viet Nam war.

It declared its positions of Hanoi and Washington are "opposed to each other like fire and water (and) there can be no third stand."

The North Vietnamese communists condemned all those who tried to promote peace as a "handful of satellites and henchmen of the U.S." and vowed "resolutely to fight to the end against aggression."

The declaration was made in the North Viet Nam people's Army Newspaper and broadcast as an "important article" by the official communist Viet Nam News Agency.

President Ho Chi Minh said last Saturday that North Viet Nam was prepared to fight on indefinitely.

Florida Troopers Block Off Jacksonville Negro Section

Jacksonville, Fla. (AP) — State troopers blocked off part of Jacksonville's Negro section Tuesday night as vandalism flared again in the city's smoldering racial situation.

The outbreaks — including two reported store fires and some window-smashing, occurred after the area had been relatively quiet till past mid-evening.

Earlier, Mayor Louis Ritter said he told Gov. Haydon Burns that a request for National Guard assistance would be made if full-scale racial violence breaks out.

Most of Tuesday night's targets appeared to be businesses in the Negro section just west and northwest of downtown Jacksonville.

State and city police cordoned off the area, including major express highway exits into the downtown section of northeast Florida's biggest city.

Police said there were some attempts at looting stores but they were breaking up the groups.

In Tallahassee, Burns said he told Ritter he felt law enforcement officers could handle the situation.

Ritter said he earlier had feared there might be more serious racial unrest.

About 10 Negroes picketed

City Hall to protest alleged discrimination in hiring practices.

Violence Continues —Monday night's violence broke out as some 200 Negroes returned to their section of the city after a demonstration at City Hall. It continued in sporadic fashion until 1 a.m., hours after the marchers had disbanded.

Fire bombs were thrown into one grocery store, starting a blaze that caused $800 damage. Windows of several stores, all in the Negro district, were shattered by rocks and bottles.

Police blamed an unauthorized return march for the outbreaks. The Negroes had been given a permit only to march to City Hall and were to have disbanded there.

The first trouble erupted, an NAACP official said, when jeering white youths threw firecrackers into the ranks of the marchers.

UNCLE SAM CREDITOR TO 93 FOREIGN STATES

... Grand Total Of Debt Is Nearly $40 Billion

By JOSEPH R. COYNE — Washington (AP) — Being in debt to Uncle Sam still is fashionable in world affairs.

No fewer than 103 countries and government books carry Belgium-Luxembourg and Rhodesia-Nyasaland as one country each—have been in debt to this nation at one time or another since World War II and the vast majority —93—still are.

And this doesn't include World War I debts on which nothing has been paid since 1932 except for regular installments made by Finland, the only country not in arrears on an outstanding World War I debt.

The latest unpublished figures compiled by the Commerce Department show that as of last Dec. 31, money owed the United States by foreign governments and enterprises totaled $18,864,488,763 exclusive of interest and World War I debt.

Nearly $40 Billion —The grand total reached $39,555,798,280.10 when the unpaid principal and interest still owed by 17 nations from World War I are added in. That latter figure alone came to $20,691,369,517.10 as of June 30, 1965, the most recent date for which figures are available.

This is only war debt still carried on the government's books. Billions more were handed out free by the United States.

But it isn't always true that foreign nations never repay what they owe Uncle Sam.

Ten countries have paid off their World War I and postwar debts—Algeria, Angola, Barbados, Bahrain, Britain, Guyana (now Guyana), British Honduras, Canada, Hong Kong, New Caledonia and Sweden. Canada and Sweden owed the most at $196,069,726 and $24,199,886 respectively.

Three Paid Off —And three countries have actually paid off their World War I debts — Cuba, Nicaragua and Liberia.

But officials don't expect any further payments from Cuba, now under communist control, on its other loans from Uncle Sam. Cuba still owes the United States $36,266,581 on an original principal of $68,555,247.

Most countries make regular payments on their World War II and postwar loans although some are occasionally late and Russia and Nationalist China, in particular, dispute the exact amount owed for World War II.

Regardless, officials said Russia still makes yearly payments of about $10 million on World War II debts which U.S. books carried as $193 million last Dec. 31.

But World War I is a different story, except for Finland.

Stop In 1932 —Payments on World War

I debt stopped after a one-year moratorium was declared in 1932. In 1953, the United States agreed that no further payments need be made until final settlement of World War I reparations payments by Germany.

With Germany still divided, no settlement is in sight.

Greece, incidentally, plans to begin making payments on its World War I debt soon, Commerce officials said.

The country most in debt to the United States is the United Kingdom which leads both lists—$9.45 billion on World War I and $3.98 billion on World War II and postwar.

French Paying —France, although she hasn't paid anything on her World War I debt in more than 30 years, is rapidly paying her more recent loans from the United States and now owes only $404 million on World War II and postwar debt.

Young Grower Destroys Cotton

Miami Springs, Fla. (AP) — South Florida's only known cotton grower has destroyed her crop.

Pam had a good crop, too — all of 19 bolls.

3 Hospital Buildings To Be Sought

By United Press International
State Institutions Director George Morris reported Tuesday he will ask the 1967 legislature for funds to build three new structures at two state hospitals.

Morris said the Beatrice State Home is in need of a recreation building and also a canteen or cafeteria.

"We want this canteen at Beatrice so patients have somewhere to visit with parents and friends," Morris said.

LSH Building

Another item slated on the institution's building program is a new medical-surgical building at Lincoln State hospital.

The building, Morris said, should help qualify the hospital for medicare funds.

The hospital earlier was declared inadequate for the federal health program.

Morris said the three structures were not part of the building program blue print he presented to the last Legislature.

He said money to finance the construction would come from the state's building fund levy. He said the Legislature will have to apportion a greater share of the levy to his department.

The Institutions Department receives about 11% or $2 million each biennium for construction.

Cut Back

Morris said the percentage before 1963 was closer to 45%. But legislators cut back the amount.

He said the building probably would not require a boost in the state's mill levy.

Final cost figures on the three buildings and their target completion dates should be known in October, Morris said.

Equalization Hearings Set

The State Board of Equalization announced its schedule of hearings for the 93 counties.

Hearings are scheduled to begin at 8:30 a.m. and resume at 1:30 p.m. after lunch.

The schedule:

Overpass Near Omaha Damaged By Big Dragline

An overpass west of Omaha was damaged Monday night when a vehicle too high to clear the structure attempted to negotiate it. State Maintenance Engineer John McMeekin of the Department of Roads reported Tuesday.

"You can't run a 15½ foot dragline under a 13-foot, 9-inch clearance and come out without a scratch," he commented.

The incident occurred at a grade separation structure at the intersection of U.S. Highway 6 and Nebraska Highway 92.

McMeekin said Highway department engineers Tuesday were assessing damage and determining what repairs were needed.

He said he might not have to close the overpass but might be forced to limit the loads on it.

McMeekin said the driver of the truck was ticketed for an over-dimension load.

Esperanto Mass

Vatican City (AP)—Pope Paul VI has given permission for limited use of Esperanto—the artificial language devised in 1887 for international use—in the Roman Catholic mass. He ruled it could be used for part of the mass but only in connection with Esperanto conventions.
